

HEIN DRIES ZIEKENHEINER

Hein Dries-Ziekenheiner LL.M is the CEO of VIGILO consult, a Netherlands based consultancy specialising in internet enforcement , cybercrime and IT law related issues. Although Hein holds a masters degree in Dutch Civil law from Leiden University, The Netherlands, he also has more than five years of technical experience in forensic IT and law enforcement on the internet. Because of his background as former legal and regulatory counsel and representative of the Netherlands ISP industry association, Hein has an extensive background and more than ten years of experience in internet networking and internet policy as well as law enforcement related issues. Hein regularly trains authorities in anti-spam and anti-malware forensics and has co-operated with many law enforcement agencies worldwide in spam cases. Hein regularly publishes and speaks on issues relating to internet law enforcement and related topics.