

SHORT BIO

Lino Santos

Lino Santos has a master's degree in Law and Security from NOVA Law school and a Computer Science degree from Universidade do Minho. He is head of the Portuguese National Cybersecurity Center (CNCS) and an appointed member to the board of directors of the European Agency for Cybersecurity (ENISA).

He was previously Director for security and users' services at the National Foundation for Scientific Computing, responsible for incident response, mobility services, AAA infrastructure and several other services for the higher education community.