

Antonio De Tommaso holds a doctor degree in law.

From 1992-1999 he worked in various position for Telecom Italia, as expert of telecommunications regulation and strategies.

Since 1999, from the very beginning of National Regulators' activities, he served as AGCOM official within the Market Analysis Department, where he was in the drafting team for interconnection and access regulation; he was also member on the Supervision Unit as for ULL implementation process in Italy.

By 2002-2005, he served as assistant to AGCOM Commissioner, overseeing all major proceedings regarding telecommunications issues and market analyses within the new EU ECNS framework.

Antonio De Tommaso is currently in charge for EU and International Affairs for AGCOM, he represents AGCOM in international Committees and institutional bodies.

By 2007, under AGCOM IRG/ERG Chairmanship, he is chairing the IRG-ERG Contact Network, the group of National Regulators' senior experts preparing ERG decisions.

By October 2007, he is chairing the ERG Project Team in charge for the Framework review.